Community Open Houses

You are invited to learn more about the expansion of services on the Georgetown South Rail Corridor before the official start of the Transit Environmental Assessment Process.

Background

Metrolinx is leading the process to evaluate the expansion of GO service in the Georgetown rail corridor between Malton and Union Station, including a rail link between Union Station and Pearson International Airport.

The project will be evaluated under the Province of Ontario's Transit Environmental Assessment Process, which is expected to begin spring of 2009.

Metrolinx is the proponent and GO Transit will provide expertise in rail service planning, in consultation with its transportation partners: CN, CP, VIA Rail, the Toronto Transit Commission, and the Greater Toronto Airports Authority.

The Project

The proposed project is an approximately 25 km expansion of the rail capacity that runs south of the Malton GO Station to the Lakeshore GO Line on the Georgetown South Rail Corridor, and the construction of a new 3.3 km rail spur from the mainline to Terminal 1 at Pearson International Airport.

The proposed additional rail capacity will enhance GO services and build high-order transit to the Pearson International Airport district from all directions, two priorities outlined in the Metrolinx Regional Transportation Plan, The Big Move: Transforming Transportation in the Greater Toronto and Hamilton Area (GTHA).

Get Involved

Your input is important. Before issuing the formal Notice of Commencement for the EA process, Metrolinx will host a series of Open Houses as an initial opportunity for communities to review the proposed project.

Local residents are encouraged to attend, view the materials on display, and speak to the technical team. It is important we hear your feedback to ensure we build an expanded regional transportation network that makes it easier for all travellers to get around.
